

We encourage and support new ideas and are always seeking to improve the quality of patients' lives.

Qmedics AG is a privately held, independent Swiss medical technology company founded in 2008. We develop and manufacture stents, stent systems and balloon dilatation catheters. Our portfolio offers standard and customized products, solutions, and technologies. With our passion for life, we focus on innovation and enhancement the concept of endovascular implants.

Are you the highly motivated and service-minded candidate as our new

Junior Software Developer

We are looking for an independent and proactive Junior Software Developer. In this role you will be responsible for designing and maintaining our Microsoft SharePoint online infrastructure landscape.

Your Responsibilities

- Maintain our current SharePoint infrastructure. Plan, design and implement improvements to our current setup
- Monitors SharePoint software for any glitches or problems
- Setup and maintain reports, site collections, sites, lists, workflows, and forms
- Manage project tasks related to SharePoint development in coordination with departments
- Gather and analyse business requirements to evaluate and propose SharePoint based solutions
- Develop out-of-the-box solutions and customized applications in SharePoint 2013 Online
- Support SharePoint site owners with their existing data, help designing new environments, support the implementation
- Monitor, diagnose, and troubleshoot SharePoint related issues
- Provide trainings/guidance to users if requested Maintain and update company website
- Support ERP System

Your Qualifications

- Bachelor's degree or equivalent work experience in computer sciences, software engineering or similar qualification
- Experience in managing Projects
- At least 2 years' experience in planning, designing, implementing, or maintaining SharePoint
- Programming Languages/Technologies? .NET framework, HTML, CSS, JavaScript, JQuery, XML
- Good documentation and organizational skills, attention to detail and ability to prioritize tasks
- Strong communication skills
- Strong analytical and problem-solving skills
- Proactive, high energy, motivated and driving personality
- Ability to learn new technologies quickly
- Good command of English and/or German

With us you will find a challenging position in a motivated expert team. Qmedics AG is a growing innovative company with the ambition to make a substantial contribution to a world where everyone enjoys life without limitations.

We look forward to receiving your application at HR@qmedics.ch to the attention of our HR Manager Mrs. Monica Baumann.

Only direct applications will be considered.